

400 Set For Trip To Coast

A gigantic spring tour involving 400 Brigham Young University students has been announced by the Department of Music. Three hundred singers from the Department's choruses and 60 instrumentalists from the Symphony Orchestra and two brass choirs of the Concert band will perform April 8-13 in concert halls in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Las Vegas.

"Objective of this tour is to present a high cultural image of BYU in the minds of the culturally oriented public in these major metropolitan areas," explained Dr. Crawford Gates, chairman of the Music Department.

"We have been making preliminary plans for this for two years," continued Dr. Gates.

Works to be performed will be the Bach "Magnificat" and Walton's "Belshazzar's Feast." These two masterpieces were written in the 18th and 20th centuries, respectively.

Auditions for the choral and instrumental organizations which will participate will be conducted during orientation and registration week. During orientation (tryouts for A Cappella Choir, Oratorio Choir, Male Chorus, Women's Chorus, Opera Workshop Chorus and Soloists, Symphony Orchestra, Concert Band and Marching and Varsity Band) will be held from 8-13 a.m. to 1 p.m. On Sept. 19 auditions will be conducted from 11-12 a.m. and 1-2 p.m. During registration auditions will be held from 9-12 a.m. and 3-5 p.m.

After returning from the coast, the musicians will perform April 15 in BYU's Fine Arts Festival and April 17 in the Salt Lake Tabernacle.

Lyceum Director Inks Contracts With 12 World-Renowned Artists

Twelve concerts have been scheduled for Brigham Young University's 1962-63 Lyceum series, reports Harold R. Clark, president of the BYU Community Concert Association.

Negotiations for more appearances are still pending.

BYU students are admitted to Lyceum concerts free, on presentation of their student activity cards.

Karl Richter, organist for St. Mark's Church in Munich, will begin the series on Oct. 24. The Utah Symphony Orchestra will give two appearances, Nov. 9 and Feb. 25.

Another organist, Flor Peeters, will give a recital Nov. 12. The celebrated virtuoso and composer is organist at Mechelen Cathedral in Belgium and director of the Organ Department at the Royal Flemish Conservatory, Antwerp.

On Nov. 17, Giorgio Tozzi, celebrated bass-baritone of the Metropolitan and San Francisco Operas, will perform. The noted Loewenguth string quartet will play a morning concert on Dec. 3.

Pianist Walter Hautzig will give a recital in the morning of

Cranes Lift Fine Arts Center Off Campus Drawing Board

GROUNDREAKING For new fine arts center was held on June 27. University officials and contractors shown turning the earth are (from left) Alma Burton, William E. Berrett, Gerrit de Jong, President

Hugh B. Brown, Howard Brown, Alfred Brown, Earl Crockett, Conan Matthews, Sam Brewster (behind Matthews), Ben Lewis, Harold I. Hansen, Crawford Gates, Morris M. Clinger and Herald R. Clark.

Elder Brown Turns Earth For Project

Earth was turned June 27 to begin construction of Brigham Young University's new Fine Arts Center.

Elder Hugh B. Brown, second counselor in the First Presidency of the LDS Church, and Vice President Harvey Taylor turned the first shovelfuls in a 45-minute groundbreaking ceremony in the quadrangle north of the library.

President Brown spoke briefly at the services, reminding the 200 persons in attendance that the "worthwhileness of the Fine Arts Center will depend on the quality of the men and women who use it."

The five-level center is scheduled to be completed in about two and one-half years. When completed, the huge center will be the largest academic building on campus.

It is one of four major construction projects under way at BYU. The new Physical Plant building will be completed when students return in the fall.

Eleven units of "Wymount Terrace," a married students housing complex, will be ready for use when fall semester opens. The Y Student Center is still about two years away.

The Physical Plant Building is located on the south side of the South Industrial Education Building. It will house the entire maintenance, supply and planning operations of the University.

The entire "Wymount Terrace" will include 24 buildings with 462 apartments. The three-story buildings will be grouped together in fours, forming quadrangles, with grass courtyards in the center of each compound.

See p. 3 For Pictorial Report on Construction

Design of the new Fine Arts Center will be like a real student. It will have four wings, joined across the center by a "grand gallery." Four theaters will be housed in the huge building. Largest theater will be a concert hall with a seating capacity of 1500.

Contract for constructing the center was awarded June 13 to the Alfred Brown Construction Co. of Salt Lake City. Architects are William L. Pereira and Associates of Los Angeles.

The spacious Y Student Center will be the largest student union building in Utah. It will have six levels, with 287,000 square feet of floor space.

Included in this center will be student body offices, a cafeteria, ballroom, bookstore, post office, browsing library, TV area, skyroom, conversation rooms, music rooms, game rooms and 20 bowling lanes.

Frosh, New Sophomores To Report Sept. 19 For Three-Day Orientation

Orientation for new freshmen and sophomores will begin Sept. 19 at 8 a.m. in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse.

The shortened three-day session will end Friday night, Sept. 22, with a dance. Last year orientation lasted four days.

Besides guidance testing and activities planned by the faculty, the student body officers have arranged sessions on the Honor Council, academic emphasis and campus organizations.

The session on Honor Council and academic emphasis will feature talks by the student body president, Honor Council chairman and the chairman of the Academic Emphasis Committee. A film will be shown and a question-answer period will follow.

According to Paul Williams, chairman of the orientation committee, a shuttle service will be provided on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 17 and 18. The volunteers will meet all buses and trains coming into Provo those days and transport students and hand luggage to campus.

Information booths will be set up in front of the Smith Family Living Center and Cannon Center.

"All students should register at these booths," Mr. Williams emphasized. "Until registration day, this is the only way the University has of knowing where you live and how to get in touch with you in case of emergencies."

Forums Slate 18 Lecturers, More Coming

Eighteen prominent lecturers have been scheduled to speak at the 1962-63 Forum assemblies at Brigham Young University.

The list of speakers includes Eric Sevareid, CBS news correspondent and author. Mr. Sevareid will speak on Feb. 18. He has been with CBS for 20 years.

President Ernest L. Wilkinson will kick off the season with an address on Oct. 1. James J. Wadsworth, distinguished American statesman, will speak Oct. 8.

Walter Slezacek, star of stage and screen, will be on the program Oct. 15, and Roscoe Drummond, famous syndicated columnist, will speak Oct. 22.

The Oct. 29 assembly will feature William Lederer, author of "The Ugly American," Sir Anthony Wedgwood Benn, popular British political figure, will speak Nov. 5.

Other speakers will include John H. Furbay, "The world's most traveled man," Dean Clarence Manion, former dean of Notre Dame Law School; Virginia Peterson, literary critic and author; Sir Geoffrey Furlong, British diplomat; Eldon Griffiths, foreign editor of Newsweek.

William Laurence, science editor of the New York Times; Eleanor Dulles, economist, diplomat and educator; Dr. Richard McInerney, director of the American art exhibit at the Moscow Fair; Andrew Tulley, author and correspondent; Albert Barker, producer of "A Way of Thinking," and Thomas M. Franck, professor of international law at New York University, are scheduled.

Homecoming To Emphasize West's Future

"Ahead of the West"—BYU's Homecoming 1962—will be celebrated Oct. 29—Nov. 3.

A full slate of activities has been planned for the week, according to Dan Lau, Homecoming chairman.

A two-hour Pickhouse Frolics featuring top BYU talent and a name attraction of the calibre of Red Skelton or Pat Boone has been scheduled for Nov. 3, reported Lau. Contract for the name attraction has not yet been signed.

THE HOME COMING assembly on Nov. 2 will be written and directed by Buddy Youngren, student writer and producer.

Other events will include voting for queen, Oct. 26; forum, Oct. 29; devotional and matinee, Oct. 31; queen's banquet, Nov. 1; Homecoming dance, Nov. 2; parade, BYU vs. U. of New Mexico and alumni dinner and dance, Nov. 3.

Nicanor Zabaleta . . . Spanish harpist to perform March 23.

Jan. 14, and on Feb. 18 the Concordia Choir from Moorhead, Minn., will make another BYU appearance.

Violinist Michael Rabin, whom the London Daily Express compared with Jascha Heifetz, will play Mar. 18. Spanish harpist Nicanor Zabaleta will perform Mar. 25. Mr. Zabaleta has played as soloist with more than 90 symphonies.

On Mar. 25 Mary Costa will sing, and John Browning, American pianist, will play a concert on April 4.

University Announces 49 Faculty Appointments

Brigham Young University has signed 49 new faculty members for the 1963-64 year, according to Vice President Earl Crockett.

A new dean of students, Elliott Cameron; a new director of institutional research, Howard Campbell; and a new director of admissions and records, William R. Siddoway, also have been appointed.

Appointment of 49 new teachers brings the total full time BYU faculty to approximately 800. Last fall there were about 837 full time faculty members.

The college hiring the most new personnel is the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. Eighteen new teachers have been added to this college's instructional staff.

New English teachers in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences are Harrison M. Davis, instructor, M.S. from Utah State University; Edward A. Geary, instructor, M.A. from BYU; John S. Harris, assistant professor, Ph.D. from University of Texas; Ruth Mary McKay, instructor, M.A. from BYU; and John Thomas, assistant professor, Ph.D. from University of Maryland.

Joining the Language Department staff are Peter P. Ashworth, special instructor, B.A. BYU; Bertrand L. Hall, assistant professor, Ph.D. from University of Illinois; A. Ray Butler, instructor, M.A., Weber College; and Earl L. Carlson, instructor, M.A., Miami Univ.

OTHER New language teachers include M. Albert Jacobs, instructor, M.A., BYU; Hans W. Kelling, assistant professor, M.A., Stanford Univ.; Harold D. Manning, instructor, M.A., BYU; Murray F. Smith, assistant professor, M.A., University of Southern California; and James S. Taylor, instructor, M.A., BYU.

Ted J. Warner, Ph.D., Univ. of New Mexico, has been appointed an assistant professor of history. Darrell M. Pedersen, Ph.D., Univ. of Illinois, has been named assistant professor of psychology.

NEW FACULTY in the College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences include Dean W. Hubbard, Ph.D., Oregon State Univ., assistant professor of agricultural economics; Max Van Wallentine, Ph.D., Cornell Univ., assistant professor of animal husbandry; and August W. Jauch, Ph.D., Oklahoma State Univ., assistant professor of zoology.

Two new instructional personnel have been appointed in the College of Business. They are Roman R. Andrus, M.S., Columbia Univ., instructor in business management; William R. Lambert, M.B.A., Harvard Graduate School, instructor in business management; Charles H. Bradford, Ph.D., Harvard Univ., assistant professor of economics; Wayne W. Clark, Ph.D., Texas A & M, associate professor of economics; and H. Gill Hilton, Ph.D., North Carolina State College, assistant professor of statistics.

New faculty in the College of Family Living include Evelyn M. Lee, Ph.D., Univ. of Wisconsin, assistant professor of clothing and textiles; Lila Fee Allen, M.S., BYU, in-instructor in human development and family relationship; Marion F. Anderson, M.S., Oregon State Univ., instructor in HDFS; Elmer M.

Mr. Siddoway

Knowles, Ph.D., Cornell Univ., professor of HDFS; and Gay Vallentine, M.A., BYU, instructor in HDFS.

The three new appointments in the College of Fine Arts are Charles L. Metten, Ph.D., State University of Iowa, associate professor of dramatic arts; Dwight W. Stubbs, Ph.D., USC, assistant professor of music; and Sherwin H. Baer, Ph.D., Ohio State Univ., assistant professor of speech.

New appointments in the College of Nursing are Joyce Cameron, M.S., Yale, assistant professor; and Carol Beth Wheeler, B.S., BYU, instructor.

Two new instructors in library science are Carol Oaks, M.A., Univ. of Chicago; and Harold W. Wilcox, M.S., Rutgers Univ.

Five appointments made in the College of Physical and Engineering Sciences. They are James L. Bills, Ph.D., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, assistant professor of chemistry; Ronald A. Knight, M.A., BYU, instructor in mathematics; Paul Yearout, Ph.D., University of Washington, assistant professor of mathematics; Jae R. Ball, Ph.D., UCLA, assistant professor of physics; and Donald B. Lison, M.S., PSU, instructor of physics.

Four new instructors have been named in the College of Physical Education. They are Sherard W. James, B.S., BYU, health education; Ronald L. Rhodes, M.S., BYU, health education; Leslie McKay Rollins, M.S., BYU, health education; and R. LaVell Edwards, M.S., Univ. of Utah, PE-M.

Wilson Kay Anderson, M.Ed., has been appointed an assistant professor of religious instruction.

Koreans Jampack Lecture Hall To Watch BYU Variety Show

Thousands of natives and United States GIs in the Far East have thronged to the shows being performed there by the BYU variety troupe.

In Taegu, Korea, 2,500 natives jampacked a lecture hall at Kyung Buk University to see an unscheduled performance by the 17 BYU students. According to James Lawrence, director of the Program Bureau, the room had a capacity of 600 persons.

THE LOGAN newspapers had run a story about how American students who would perform, and to the Koreans this was really an attraction," explained Mr. Lawrence.

After repeated pleas—and bodily ejections—to get some of the crowd to leave for safety's sake, a harried university professor announced the show was over.

"You should have heard the angry roar that went up. It made shivers run down your back," Mr. Lawrence continued. "FINALLY, THE performers dismissed to the main steps of the building to do the show. A mass of 4,000 persons sat on the grounds to watch."

"Curtain Time" left Provo on June 20. The variety show was performed for eight months in Japan, Korea, the Philippines, Okinawa and Formosa.

The show was televised in Okinawa and Japan. Broadcasts of the program have been made in Korea.

This is the second time Mr. Lawrence and Jack Thompson have taken "Curtain Time" to the Orient. In 1960 a similar tour was made to U.S. army in-

Dave Stone . . . Elected AS BYU President for next year.

Maria Toronto . . . In charge of assemblies and culture.

Fred Streuling . . . To supervise student body finances.

Student Execs Plan Conference In Wyoming To Study Leadership

Some 250 student leaders and administrative guests will gather at Colter Bay, Jackson Hole, Wyo., Sept. 15 for the annual Leadership Conference of the Associated Students of Brigham Young University.

Attending the three-day conference will be dorm presidents, representatives from the organizations in IOC, members of student body committees, student body officers, members of the BYU administration, a general authority and his wife and 10 selected freshmen.

Also, eight student body presidents from nearby universities will be invited, according to Lloyd Johnson, conference chairman.

"About 320 persons registered, but we were not able to accept them all," said Mr. Johnson. "Those who were accepted have been or will be notified."

The purpose of the conference is to make the participants better acquainted with student body and administrative leaders and to provide leadership training.

Training sessions will be patterned after the group dynamics approach to the study of leadership. That is, the participants will be divided into six groups and under an appointed leader will observe themselves to discover what leadership roles are necessary to their smooth functioning.

Major addresses will be given by a general authority of the Church and members of the University administrative staff. Last year Elder Howard W. Hunter spoke at the conference. It was at this gathering that he announced the elimination of social units on campus.

Elder Hunter told his audience that "Good character is the essence of leadership. Sincerity and dependability go hand in hand with it."

Four faculty members have been selected to serve as group leaders. Two others have yet to be named. Those appointed were Quila McKay, associate professor of business management; Ken Hardy, associate professor of psychology; Clyde Parker, associate professor of personnel and guidance; and Lynn Ravsten, instructor in psychology.

Working with Mr. Johnson as assistant members are Clair Elissen, Linda Bessy, Ray Goodson, Gary Constock, Kathy Medley and Jim Stevens.

Spring Grad? Apply Early

Deadline for applying for spring semester graduation is Jan. 16, 1963.

STUDENTS EXPECTING to be graduated in the spring should apply immediately," urged Virginia Blackwell, graduation clerk in the office of Admissions and Records.

Students planning to be graduated in August have until Mar. 15 to apply. Fee for the bachelor's degree is $10. Master's degree candidates have to pay $20. FEE FOR the General College two-year terminal certificate is $5.

If the applicant does not obtain his degree, after paying the graduation fee, he may ask the Office of Admissions and Records to hold the fee until he is graduated. If he requests a refund, only 50 per cent of the fee will be returned.

To Last Three Days . . .

Students To Begin Fall Class Sign Up On September 22

Registration for fall semester will be conducted Sept. 22, 24 and 25 in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse.

Saturday has been set aside for new student registration. All students who have not previously attended BYU will sign up this day, regardless of their class standing.

Registration for returning regular and special students will be on Monday and Tuesday.

On all three days, students will register in a strict alphabetical order, to be announced later. Students should arrive at the Fieldhouse on their scheduled days at least 15 or 20 minutes early.

Those who attended spring or summer session will be admitted to the Fieldhouse during their activity cards. Others will be required to show their admission slip.

Late registration will begin Sept. 26, according to Don Nelson, registration officer.

Orton Wood . . . Heads all student social activities.

The three-day registration, which probably will see more than 11,000 students sign up for classes, will climax a week of orientation activities for freshmen and new sophomores. Orientation will begin Sept. 13, when American College Tests will be given to all new freshmen who have not previously taken them.

Tuition and fees may be paid when students register. Tuition for 1963-64 is $87 a semester. Building, gymnasium, student activity and health fees are $43 a term. Total tuition and fees for each term is $130.

Faculty registration advisers for each student will be on duty in the Fieldhouse during all three days of registration.

Students who register at BYU are required to maintain ideals and standards in harmony with those of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

While construction crews are ripping the ground northeast of the Library getting ready to lay the foundation to the new Fine Arts Center, the skeleton of the new Y Student Center on the south picks up a few muscles and some skin. In the picture below, workmen are putting the finishing touches on the Physical Plant building, which is scheduled to be in use by the time school opens in the fall.

Eleven units of the "Wymount Terrace" will be completed on Aug. 31. In the fall 108 single girls will be housed in the married student housing complex, and 84 apartments for couples will be ready for occupation. On the far right is an artist's view of the grand gallery in the Fine Arts Center. It will be the lobby for four theaters and will measure 62 by 100 feet.

When completed, all of the buildings in the married students housing complex will be like this one, except the administration building. They will be grouped together in fours, forming quadrangles with courtyard—playgrounds in the middle. The quads will be in keeping with the "quad" groupings of academic buildings on campus. "Wymount Terrace" will be located northeast of Heritage Halls.

On the far right is an artist's concept of the Fine Arts center. BYU's schedule of art exhibits, concerts, plays, television and radio productions, forensic tournaments, recitals and dance programs will be nearly doubled with the completion of the new center.

Torn Campus Signals Threshold of Destiny

Shown above is an artist's concept of how the new Y Student Center will look when it is completed in about two years.

Cougars Hone Claws For New League

PASS RECEIVER—Lloyd Smith left end for the Cougars, pulls in a pass from fullback Eldon Fortie in BYU game with Utah. Smith is one of 21 grid lettermen returning this fall. BYU will play four home games, four against WAC opponents.

Footballers To Kick Off On Sept. 15

BYU's football team will travel from Stockton, Calif., to Kalamazoo, Mich., this fall as part of a 10-game gridiron schedule.

Coach Hal Mitchell's new squad will open the season Sept. 15 against University of Pacific in Stockton, Calif. This early opening date will give the Cats a little more than two weeks to prepare for the 1962 season.

The following week they travel to Tucson, Ariz., for a league game with Arizona before they return home for a first meeting with George Washington University Sept. 29. Colorado State, University, Utah, Montana, Utah State and New Mexico follow in that order before the Cougars fly to Kalamazoo for their first meeting on the football field with Western Michigan.

Games to be played at home in Cougar Stadium are George Washington University (Sept. 29), New Mexico (Nov. 3), and Wyoming (Nov. 17). A fourth home game against Utah on Oct. 15 will be played in Utah Stadium in Salt Lake City.

Listed below is a complete schedule for 1962:

- †Sept. 15—University of Pacific at Stockton
- †Sept. 22—Arizona at Tucson
- Sept. 29—George Washington at Provo
- †Oct. 6—Colorado State at Fort Collins
- Oct. 13—Utah at Salt Lake City
- Oct. 20—Montana at Missoula
- Oct. 27—Utah State at Logan
- Nov. 3—New Mexico at Provo
- Nov. 10—Western Michigan at Kalamazoo
- Nov. 17—Wyoming at Provo
- Conference games
- †Night game

SUMMER UNIVERSE

Published Tuesday and Thursday during both terms of the summer session except holidays and examination periods, by Student Publications, for the Associated Students of Brigham Young University.

Second class mail privileges authorized at Provo, Utah, September 16, 1962, under post office license, March 3, 1919. Printed by Brigham Young University Press, Division Office, 144 Church Street, Provo, Utah 84602. Business Office, 150 W. 100 S. at 2077 Subscriptions, $2 for Summer Session.

SOUTHPAW HOOK—Bruce Burton, one of five regulars returning for 1962-63 season, hooks one in the postside during league game. The Cougars will play full home-and-home schedule in new WAC.

NCAA Selects BYU As Site For 1963 Region Play Offs

Brigham Young University has been selected as site for the NCAA Western regional basketball playoffs in 1963. It was announced recently by University officials.

According to Edwin R. Kimball, director of athletics for the Cougars, who made the announcement, BYU was notified it will host the tournament in a letter from Bernie A. Shively, chairman of the NCAA basketball committee.

The tournament, Kimball said, is scheduled for March 15-19, 1963, in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse in Provo.

It will mark the second year in a row that BYU has staged the Far West playoff, and the winner of the tournament will enter the four-team national finals the following week.

The tourney was awarded BYU initially in 1962. It was the first time the western regionals had ever been staged anywhere in the Intermountain Area.

Capacity crowds witnessed playoff action both nights, and both the University and Provo received much favorable comment for the manner in which the tournament was handled.

School crowds were on hand for the four games and the playoff grossed more than any previous western regional tournament.

In making the announcement, Kimball said he was pleased with the NCAA Committee's choice and hoped that the school and other groups responsible for the tournament would be able to improve on the 1962 operation.

"This is great basketball country," said Kimball, "and I'm sure the fans will appreciate the fact that the tournament has been returned to Provo for another year."

Six Teams To Battle For Title In Fledgling Athletic Loop

Brigham Young University's athletic teams will focus their attention and their efforts on a new front this fall when they marshal forces for competition in the newly-formed Western Athletic Conference.

Officially, the new six-school league begins with the first event of the 1962-63 school year, which means the Cougars will be breaking the ice in a conference first against Arizona's football team on Sept. 22 at Tucson.

The old and ailing Skyline Conference, which was still breathing when most of the students were winding up second semester last spring, succumbed quietly this summer. Denver, Montana, Colorado State and Utah State were cut adrift as independents at the final rites.

Enough games have been scheduled in all sports to give the WAC schools a good first year go-round. Most of the schools have no fewer than four league football games docketed this fall, and a complete home-and-home schedule in basketball will be in the offing this winter.

Champions will be declared in all sports, and since the league is starting with a clean slate, every contest should produce a few records of one kind or another.

All records and statistics will be channeled through headquarters for the Western Athletic Conference in Denver, Colo. Commissioner of the new league is Dr. Paul Brecher, former head of the Skyline Conference.

There's no question but what the new Rocky Mountain-Southwest tieup will form one of the toughest athletic affiliations in intercollegiate rivalry.

Just how the Cougars will fare in the new conference remains to be seen, but listed below are the prospects for both football and basketball.

FOOTBALL

Cochal Hal Mitchell expects about 40-plus varsity candidates to report for practice Sept. 1. Of this number about 25 will be returning lettermen, with the balance made up of sophomore prospects, transfers, etc.

There are enough lettermen returning to give the club better depth than last year's team, although there will still be a few soft spots that will need strengthening.

One innovation this fall will be the Y's new formation. Coach Mitchell has installed a modified form of the single wing, one in which the blocking back lines up on the weak side. The new offense should give the BYU game more versatility and striding power.

Key man in the BYU attack is Eldon Fortie, 167-pound tailback who led the team in rushing and passing last year despite an injury that kept him sidelined for several games.

To fortify other backfield positions, Coach Mitchell has moved two players who were tailbacks last year into other positions. Kent Nance, the great young back from California, has been shifted to fullback, and Doran Merdley, alternate fullback in '61, has been moved to wingback.

BASKETBALL

It's still too early to get a clear picture of the Y's basketball prospects, but Coach Stan Watts expects an improved team for the forthcoming season.

Practice sessions, which begin in October, will find the Cougar's top five scorers from last year returning. In addition, Watts is hoping for several of the regulars from last year's 13-1 freshman team. The top fresh stars, plus help in the form of transfers, will give the Cougars more to work with this season.

Leading the returning lettermen is Bruce Burton, center and finest all-around player on the 1962 team. Only 6-4, Burton has been able to hold his own with opposing centers several inches taller.

Other regulars who will be back in the fold are forwards Bob Skousen (6-11) and Jim Nelson (6-3), and guards Gary Batchelor (5-11) and Ron Steinkamp (5-11).

Top prospect moving up from the frosh is Bob Quinney, 6-4 forward from Medford, Ore., who set a freshman record with his 22-point scoring average last winter.

Cats Eye Quaker City Tourney In December

A coast-to-coast swing and a major basketball tournament in the East will highlight BYU's basketball schedule for the 1962-63 season.

Cochal Stan Watts' engers return to tournament action in December when they participate in the Quaker City Basketball Tournament in Philadelphia, Pa., and Bowling Green are the only outside teams invited to play in the Mid-Atlantic Conference tourney.

As usual, the schedule for the coming year finds the Cougars meeting a string of top-flight opponents from all sections of the country. The swing east to Quaker City will also feature one game each with Ohio State and Memphis State.

Other powers BYU will face on the hardwoods are Oregon, Oklahoma City, Wichita, Baylor, Utah State, Montana, and the other five members of the WAC (Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Utah State and Wyoming).

Thirteen games, or exactly half of the schedule, will be played on the home court in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse. Listed below is the schedule for the forthcoming season:

- Nov. 30—Oregon at Eugene
- Dec. 1—Oregon at Eugene
- Dec. 7—Oklahoma City at Provo
- Dec. 8—Oklahoma City at Provo
- Dec. 14—Wichita at Provo
- Dec. 15—Wichita at Provo
- Dec. 21—Baylor at Provo
- Dec. 22—Baylor at Provo
- Dec. 26-28—Quaker City Tournament at Philadelphia
- Dec. 31—Ohio State at Columbus
- Jan. 2—Memphis State at Memphis
- Jan. 5—Utah State at Logan
- Jan. 11—Arizona State at Tempe
- Jan. 12—Arizona at Tucson
- Jan. 19—Utah at Provo
- Jan. 26—Utah State at Provo
- Feb. 2—Montana at Provo
- Feb. 8—New Mexico at Provo
- Feb. 15—Wyoming at Provo
- Feb. 15—Arizona at Provo
- Feb. 16—Arizona State at Provo
- Feb. 23—Utah at Salt Lake City
- Feb. 28—Wyoming at Laramie
- Mar. 2—New Mexico at Albuquerque
- *Conference games